

In response to the Consumer Bankers Association asking the Federal Communications Commission to block Wisconsin's law and require telemarketers to abide only by the federal government's version of the do-not-call law, I would like to ask the FCC to not grant this request. As a consumer in WI, I very much appreciate our strict do-not call law and do not want the federal law replacing it. Telemarketing calls at home are intrusive and the aggressive sales pitches make me very uncomfortable. When I am home I want to spend quality,uninterrupted time with my husband and children.

Thank you.
